CASE STUDY

About Hamworthy

Hamworthy Heating is a British commercial boiler and hot water system manufacturer with over 100 years of experience and innovation. From their Head Office in Dorset, they continue to innovate their products. Hamworthy is a British manufacturing success, with dedicated sales teams working to deliver quality products to a range of key customers, across the UK.

Business Challenge

Sales opportunities and customer service were not optimised because Hamworthy Heating did not have a full 360 degree view of the customer. Multiple systems were used to maintain customer records. Opportunities to provide an outstanding customer experience were limited by a silo view of the customer. Sales and Marketing functions did not have transparency of each other's work.

Gauri we able to quickly understand the remit of the project. They worked competently and effectively at every step of the journey to ensure that our timelines were met and our budget was respected. The Gauri team were happy to be flexible and helpful; even in areas that were not necessarily their responsibility.

With the initial phase delivered, stakeholder buy-in was enhanced as the project progressed. Would recommend without reservation. Their focus and can-do approach was a breath of fresh air.

Our Engagement with Hamworthy

Working with key stakeholders from the sales teams, and IT, Gauri consultants successfully deployed Salesforce Sales Cloud and Marketing Cloud. The transparency between sales and marketing has been achieved and the 360 degree view of the customer to ensure that sales focus follows engagement with marketing initiatives. Furthermore, the Gauri team developed a series of integration interfaces with Hamworthy's back-end SAP ERP system. This has enabled the rapid production of professional quotation documents which, when accepted, can generate orders in their SAP ERP system. .

It was great to work with the Gauri team alongside my own userbase. They were helpful, responsive and supportive. They helped to build my knowledge so I can carry out my support role, and they helped take my users on the journey. A single-team approach enabled us to present a clear and consistent view to the end-users and to management enabling a good level of transparency.

Our Approach

Optimal Delivery Model & Resourcing

With an optimised blend of onshore and offshore resources, the Gauri team were able to give personal face-to-face business consulting with Hamworthy users, while also delivering with the speed and agility of an offshore development centre. By blending the approach Gauri were able to deliver a high-quality personalised technical consulting and delivery at a pace and cost which worked in a tight project timeline.

Deep Business Process Understanding

As Salesforce specialists (and with a wealth of experience with other CRM products) the Gauri consultants were able to challenge, refine, re-imagine and implement the Hamworthy Heating sales processes in a slick modern system with customer interaction and real-time reporting at the core.

Gauri are specialists in 'greenfield' implementations, where the customer has previously had no exposure to the software, we support them every step of the way. With an agile delivery that allowed users to see progress and refine their requirements as the project was in flight we ensured that the customer vision was delivered and enhanced through the project to the point of go-live.

Onsite Presence & Stakeholder Relationship

The willingness of the Gauri team to travel to various UK sites based on user location was a welcome approach which helped end-users to feel connected with the project, rather than have the project delivered in a central project location.

Proactive Risk & Change Management

Although not formally engaged to support the change management agenda, Gauri's skilled consultants were able to offer insight into business challenges likely to arise within and beyond the project. Their holistic vision mitigated many risks and helped enable a smooth go-live.

Technical Superiority & Best Practice Adoption

Alongside their business consulting and domain expertise, the Gauri team are hardcore technical specialists with a focus on minimising the total cost of ownership of the system. By maintaining a solution which is standard (where possible), the Gauri team were able to ensure that the ongoing support overhead of the system was minimised.
